EXPLANATORY NOTES ON GENEALOGICAL TABLES

The families are all numbered consecutively by large figures placed at the head of each and are referred to by their numbers.

Roman Numerals are used after the names of ancestors to designate the generation in which they were born.

Names of sons who appear as heads of families, or otherwise, in the next generation, are printed in common figures.

The preceding generations are given by using small capitals, Roman numerals, figures in parentheses, and capitals in parentheses.

PREFACE

In compiling this genealogy of the descendants of Hugh Jones, I have made the utmost use of every source of information available.

This genealogy will be found accurate and trustworthy. At the same time, it is inevitable that some errors will creep in, especially so with regard to dates and spelling of names. In some instances members of the same family reporting a record differ as to dates, in other instances descendants have failed to respond to our requests for data.

The preparation of this volume has involved correspondence with a great many people and has taken several years; my reward lies in the hope and belief that I have performed a real service to the family.

THE EARLY JONESES

This family is descended from an ancient Welch line.

The modernizing of the surname John, which anciently was pronounced with the "o" long as in Jone, into Jones, is a transition quite familiar to genealogists. Thus, ap. John, ap. Johns, ap. Jones, Jones.

Welsh John, succeeding Welch John, and being called John's son, until in the course of time the name narrowed down into that of Jones and the first of the family who emigrated to America was Captain Christopher Jones, commander of the "Mayflower" (1620)—a trading man in the colony of the Pilgrim fathers and a "convinced friend" and subsequently, when the Pilgrims and Puritan colonies were in a prosperous condition, families by the name of Jones settled in America.

The surname Jones ranks first in number among the family names of Wales; one Welch man in seven bearing the name. In England it holds second place.

Being of patronymic derivation, it came into use as a family surname during the fifteenth century. Over fifty colonists bearing the name, progenitors of families, settled in New England before 1700; most of whom came from England, of Wales descent, settling in Massachusetts. They were very serious-minded and religious people, with whom life was a strenuous business.

When Hugh Jones settled in Salem, Massachusetts in 1650, that place was on the frontier, exposed to Indian raids and forays, and was not safe for a great many years. Over two hundred years our family was, in a measure, on the frontier, and doing the work of frontiersmen and pioneers.

It is from Abraham Jones that the name Abraham, afterwards so celebrated, first came into the Lincoln family. Sarah, daughter of Abraham and Sarah (Whitman) Jones of Dorchester, Massachusetts, married Mordecai Lincoln of Hull.

Capt. Lewis Jones settled in Watertown, Massachusetts, 1640, of whom Calvin Coolidge is a descendant, probably is of this same Jones family.

FIRST GENERATION

1. Hugh Jones, Immigrant of Salem, Massachusetts, being one of the earliest pioneers. Was born in Wincanton, England, 1635; emigrated to Salem, Massachusetts in 1650, where he died about 1688.

He married first, Hannah, daughter of John and Margaret Tompkins of Salem, Massachusetts, June 26, 1660. She was born February 21, 1640-1 and died May 10, 1672.

He married second, December 31, 1672, Mary, Baptized March 29, 1649, daughter of John and Martha (Tompkins) Foster of Salem, a cousin of his first wife. She died in Woburn, Massachusetts, May 29, 1717.

November 18, 1661 he received from the town a homestead grant of about three acres of land which he sold April 22, 1673 to William Robinson of Salem.

On April 13, 1674, he bought of Thomas Gardner, five acres of land in the "North Neck".

Hugh Jones was a farmer and reared a large family on his small estate. His descendants for five generations lived mostly in Middlesex and Worcester Counties, Massachusetts, and Hillsborough County, New Hampshire. They were a vigorous, hardy, long-lived race of farmers and blacksmiths. They reared large families; were continually pioneers to new settlements on the advancing frontiers, and most of them were at some period, engaged in the military service.

Mary, the widow of Hugh Jones, removed after 1688, with most of her children, to the northern part of Woburn. They had fifteen children.

(Rear Admiral Charles E. Clark, U. S. N.)

"The Oregon, under the command of Captain Charles E. Clark, was on the coast of California. She was needed at Santiago, Cuba. She left San Francisco on March 19, 1898, steamed the 13,000 miles without a mishap or strain, swung into line with the other battleships at Santiago Bay, reported ready for action and participated in the naval engagement of July 3, in which the entire Spanish fleet was sunk. That was the finest sailing record ever made by a battleship. The bravery on the part of Captain Clark placed him in the front rank of the nation's heroes.

A bronze statue rests in Memorial Park in Bradford, Vermont to the memory of her native son, the late Captain Charles Edgar Clark of the Oregon during the Spanish American War and later elevated to the office of Rear Admiral.
